

REFERENCES

- Aarts, B. (2001). English Syntax and argumentation; 2nd Ed. New York: PALGRAVE
- Asmussen. J. (2006). Toward a methodology for corpus-based studies of linguistic change: Contrastive observation and their possible diachronic interpretations in the Korpus 2000 and Korpus 90 General Corpora of Danish. In Wilson, A., Archer, D & Rayson, P (Ed.), Corpus Linguistic Around The World (pp. 33-48). Amsterdam New York: Edition Rodopi B. V
- Blevins, P.J. (2006). English Inflection and Derivation. In Aarts, B & McMahon, A (Ed), The Handbook of English Linguistic (pp 507-536). Oxford: Blackwell Publishing Ltd.
- Carnie, A. (2006). Syntax: A Generative Introduction. Oxford: Blackwell Publishing Ltd.
- Corpus of Contemporary American English (2020). Retrieved July, 2020, from <https://www.english-corpora.org/coca/>
- Davies. M. (2010). The Corpus of Contemporary American English as the first reliable monitor corpus of English. New York: Oxford University Press.
- Dixon, R.M.W., & Aikhenvald A.Y. (2004). Adjective Classes: A Cross-Linguistic Typology. New York: Oxford University Press.
- Dixon, R.M.W. (2005). A Semantic Approach to English Grammar. New York: Oxford University Press.
- Fatkullina, F. G., Kazantseva, E. A., Valiakhmetova, E. K., Sulejmanova, A. K., & Anokhina, S. Z. (2018). Semantic Synergy of the Noun and the Verb. Modern Journal of Language Teaching Methods (MJLTM), 8(9), 353-360.
- Fonteyn, L., & Hartmann, S. (2016). Usage-based perspectives on diachronic morphology: A mixed-methods approach towards English ing-nominals. Linguistics Vanguard, 2(1).
- Galderen. E.V. (2002). An Introduction to the Grammar of English: Syntactic Argument and socio-historical background. Amsterdam/Philadelphia: John Benjamins Publishing Company.
- Gorjanc, V. (2006). Tracking Lexical Change in the reference corpus of Slovene texts. In Wilson, A., Archer, D & Rayson, P (Ed.), Corpus

Linguistic Around The World (pp. 91-100). Amsterdam New York: Edition Radopi B. V

Hegeman. L. (2006). English Word Classes and Phrases. The Handbook of English Linguistic. Oxford: Blackwell Publishing Ltd.

Hodgkinson.L (2012). Peace and Purity: The Story of the Brahma Kumaris, A Spiritual – Pulist. Retrieved from <http://www.pulist.net/peace-and-purity-the-story-of-the-brahma-kumaris-a-spiritual-revolution-1342577317.html>.

Huddleston, A., & Pullum, G.K. (2005). A student's Introduction to English Grammar. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.

Introduction to Verbs: Tense, Aspect, and Mood (2019). Retrieved March, 31, 2021, from <https://courses.lumenlearning.com/boundless-writing/chapter/verbs/>

Korhonen, A., & Briscoe, T. (2004). Extended lexical-semantic classification of English verbs. In Proceedings of the Computational Lexical Semantics Workshop at HLT-NAACL 2004 (pp. 38-45).

Lawson.J. (2012). It kind of feels like a hollow victory [TheBloggess.com]. Retrieved from <http://thebloggess.com/2011/09/it-kind-of-feels-like-a-hollow-victory/>

Leech. G. (2006). A Glossary of English Grammar. Edinburgh: Edinburgh University Press.

Leseva, S., Stoyanova, I., & Todorova, M. (2018). Classifying Verbs in WordNet by Harnessing Semantic Resources. Proceedings of CLIB, 115-125.

McCharty. A. C. (2002). An Introduction to English Morphology: Word and Their Structure. Edinburgh: Edinburg University Press.

McEney. T., & Wilson. A. (2001). Corpus Linguistic: An Introduction second edition. Edinburgh: Edinburgh University Press.

Michaelis, L. A. (2006). Tense in English. The Handbook of English Linguistic. Oxford: Blackwell Publishing Ltd.

Miller, J. (2002). An Introduction to English Syntax. Edinburgh: Edinburgh University Press:

Morley. G.D. (2000). Syntax in Functionl Grammar: An Introduction to Lexicogrammar in systemic Linguistic. London: Continium Wellington House.

- Payne, T.E. (1997). Describing Morphosyntax: A guide for field linguistics. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.
- Radford, A. (2004). English Syntax: An Introduction. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, (paperback).
- Radford, A. (2009). Analysing English Sentences: A minimalist Approach. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.
- Ridley, S. (2012). Have a long way to go before I'm the elite running back. Retrieved from <http://audio.weei.com/a/62263583/stevan-ridley-have-a-long-way-to-go-before-i-m-the-elite-running-back.htm>.
- Suherman, L.A. (2017). The analysis of Metaphorical Domain and Construction on English "Stab" verb in Corpora (Post Graduate thesis). Makassar: Hasanuddin University.
- Van Valin, R.JR. (2004). An Introduction to Syntax. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.
- Verspoor, M., & Sauter, K. (2000). English Sentence Analysis: An Introduction Course. Amsterdam Philadelphia: John Benjamin Publishing Company.
- Vinson, D. P., & Vigliocco, G. (2002). A semantic analysis of grammatical class impairments: semantic representations of object nouns, action nouns and action verbs. Journal of Neurolinguistics, 15(3-5), 317-351.
- Young, D. J. (2003). Introducing English Grammar. London & New York: Taylor & Francis e-library.

APPENDICES

1. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.pulist.net/peace-and-purity-the-story-of-the-brahma-kumaris-a-spiritual-revolution-1342577317.html
Date	2012
Title	Peace and Purity: The Story of the Brahma Kumaris, A Spiritual - Pulist

Expanded context: The coach drivers got into some kind of furious argument with each other as we zonked-out travellers stood there continuing to take in the slow-moving, good-humored peasant life around us. At last, at 10:00 a.m., only two hours after our scheduled departure time, the drivers' argument seemed to be settled and we thankfully clambered into the coaches. BK sisters and brothers brought on board bottles of mineral water, fruit and food for the journey. Our advance literature had warned us not to be tempted by any roadside food vendors, however delicious the food looked and smelled, " for your own good. " At ten past ten, having hooted the various animals and vehicles on the side street out of the way and made it out on to the main road, the coaches stopped again and the drivers got out for another argument.

2. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://thebloggess.com/2011/09/it-kind-of-feels-like-a-hollow-victory/
Date	2012
Title	It kind of feels like a hollow victory — TheBloggess.com

Expanded context: a website with the pictures: # I suspect your explanation is close to the truth. adelheidp recently posted.. Silliness # I once gave my former boss a big jar of eyeballs for Christmas. Okay, they were plastic, but still I don't know why it never occurred to me to open the jar and take a whiff. I'm just not awesome enough, I guess. # I always wondered that too. But mostly I wonder if noses have a smell or if they just smell of the things they have recently smelled. Once I for someone to smell my nose but it didn't work, I suspect they didn't even try. Some people just lack curiosity. # I tried to smell my son's eyeballs, so that I could report back for you, but I think the eyeball smell was overwhelmed by the toddler boy smell. Or maybe the boy smell is actually eyeball smell.

3. Source information : (1a)

Source	BLOG http://uncoverostomy.org/2012/10/31/nipping-it-in-the-bud/
Date	2012
Title	"Nipping it in the Bud"

Expanded context: exchange went in person. Bottom line... never mess with a fiercely protective and proud Mom and that goes double if its Julie! # A patient of mine, 80 y.o., told me a story very similar: during a bus trip from Turin to Lourdes, she was speaking with a friend who doesn't know she has a colostomy, when a woman asked the driver to stop. The friend of my patient told her the woman has an ostomy and that kind of people had to stay at home. They have always troubles and especially because they smell. My patient answer that there are a lot of people smelling even those that don't know they are speaking with an ostomate. Her friend was stunning. Now my patient has a new friend (the woman who stopped the bus) # This week the Undergophers release the long delayed GenCon Seminar episode: " So You Want To Start A Podcast! " Recorded live in front of an actual audience during the best four days of podcasting.

4. Source information: (1b)

Source	BLOG http://www.themobsociety.com/2012/07/dear-boys-quit-peeing-on-the-floor-2/
Date	2012
Title	Dear Boys, Quit Peeing on the Floor! The MOB Society

Expanded context: the pee was seeping Under the toilet where it meets the floor. Extra peroxide squirted around there and soaked up helps (check your flooring for colorfastness); A fresh bead of caulking might help it not go under there to begin with. It won't keep it off the floor, but at least the smell won't be hiding out of reach. Refresh Mom's last type.. 25 Stories of Advent -- December 25 -- The Rest of the Story # I had this problem also, no matter how many times the bathroom was cleaned, it still smelled. I finally got rid of the smell using essential oil scented distilled white vinegar to clean ALL crevices of the toilet, soaking the seat in the tub with bleach water, and scrubbing the floor, walls, and baseboards (after spraying with the vinegar mentioned above). Whenever there is a lingering smell the first culprit I found was the area where the toilet seat is screwed on (urine seems to collect there). I hope this helps. Caulking as some mentioned is a very good idea

5. Source information: (1c)

Source	BLOG http://www.rootsimple.com/2011/02/cleaning-the-sink-with-baking-soda-and-lemons/
Date	2012
Title	Cleaning the Sink with Baking Soda and Lemons Root Simple

Expanded context: it to be a problem, but dedicated neatniks should be wary. The toilet will have to be its own post, I think. # It's funny, but the older I get, the more I do things like Grandma did them. I have a stainless steel sink (would prefer nice white porcelain like yours), and I clean it with baking soda. Sometimes mixed with borax. # Since someone else mentioned vinegar, I'm going to put in my two cents' worth on it. I have a front loader washing machine that smelled. I would leave the door open for at least 24 hours, but the smell would be there again the next time I used the machine. Last week I read a tip that vinegar instead of liquid fabric softener would help with the smell (which is caused by a build up of detergent, liquid fabric softener, and all fabric bleach). I knew that it would also get all the detergent residue out of my laundry and since I use dryer balls, my laundry would come out soft.

6. Source information: (1d)

Source	WEB http://www.theverge.com/2012/9/18/3317324/hall-of-mirrors-remaking-reality-camera-obsessed-world
Date	2012
Title	Everyone shoots first: reality in the age of Instagram The Verge

Expanded context: (including Baghdad) is much more calm and stable than what many people believe it to be. But each day, the news media finds any violence occurring in the country and screams and shouts about it -- in part because many journalists are opposed to the U.S. effort to fight terrorism. " There was just one problem: the photos Kaloogian had posted were not of Iraq, but of Istanbul. It took a matter of days for the readers of Daily Kos to pinpoint the true location where the photos were shot, once the original rat had been smelled. # In former times, there was infinitely less ammunition available against such attempts to spin some story for the benefit of some politician, company or cause. The Kaloogian story demonstrated that the truth could be determined entirely outside the purview of professional media interests.

7. Source information: (2a)

Source	BLOG http://www.rebellestociety.com/2012/09/25/the-way-of-art-how-to-undefine-it/
Date	2012
Title	The Way of Art & How to Undefine It. Rebelle Society

Expanded context: making its usual mischief: that larger-than-life, characteristically vague label that usually sends minds skipping in all kinds of revealing directions. # " Artist? " they ask. " What kind of artist? " And in a split second I sense every set of eyes in the room land on me combing for clues that might help them squish me into manageable mental fists. # And squish they must. For leaving me elusive and mysterious defeats the purpose of introductions, right? So they squeeze me for specifics, like some unfamiliar fruit whose juice they must taste. Now. # When others ask me what " kind " of an artist I am I often feel like I am being pressed to bottle up my very essence into a compact, little sentence for easy cultural consumption and digestion. # The anticipation is so thick you can smell it over the hand-rolled incense, and hear it in that breathless pause that dangles on the edge of my next word.

8. Source information: (2b)

Source	BLOG http://debbiekoenig.com/2011/12/14/the-best-homemade-chocolate-chip-cookies-in-the-entire-world/
Date	2012

Title	The Best Homemade Chocolate Chip Cookies in the Entire World
-------	--

Expanded context: tray at a time, but the extra thickness might fix the problem. # I hope this helps! If it doesn't, send me an email through the " contact " link and I'll troubleshoot with you some more. # There are a million recipes for the best chocolate chip cookie and the reason I tried yours WAS the last line. I thought anyone who would write that MUST have a pretty great cookie recipe going on. Now I am grateful I chose this recipe because man alive. these are truly the best cookies I have ever tasted. I did nt have parchment paper but my baking sheet is on the heavier side, light in color and nonstick and honestly I am not changing a thing next time for fear I will get a different result. Unreal flavour and texture. Also, sometimes you need to use the word fuck freely. And I have a 12 year old. Children will hear bad words AND read them. What we want is for them to wait to use them -- not censor the world around them.

9. Source information: (2c)

Source	BLOG http://www.blog.santaynezwineclub.com/a-matter-of-taste/
Date	2012
Title	A Matter of Taste Santa Ynez Valley Wine Country Blog

Expanded context: before the critics had their way with them. # The first course, Cremant v. Cremant, is paired with a Trout Gallantine. Similar to a pt, the trout is delicate and delicious. It's complemented well with the creaminess of the crme fraiche and the herbaceous character of dill and parsley. The Cremants are both well suited for the dish which is apparent from our diminishing plates and glasses. The bright, bubbly liquid nearly pops in our mouths with the brininess of the fish eggs. its simplicity provides the perfect showcase for the wines to be tasted. Cremant A (2009 Flying Goat, Brut Ros, " Goat Bubbles ") has a beautiful salmon color with cranberry fruit character, mouth puckering acidity and hints of sweet vanilla frosting. We are convinced Cremant A is from Burgundy. It has more weight to it than Cremant B (2008 Jean-Marc Brocard, Cremant de Bourgogne) which is fresh and appley, but seems to lack the complexity that Cremant A has. The winner: Cremant B (Burgundy).

10. Source information: (2d)

Source	WEB http://infosthetics.com/archives/2012/09/open_data_cooking_workshop_data_visualization_that_you_can_eat.html
Date	2012
Title	Open Data Cooking: Data Visualization that You Can Eat

Expanded context: # The results of the long-awaited Open Data Cooking Workshop data-cuisine.net in Helsinki have been posted online. The workshop, organized by some very open-minded visualization fanatics, investigated new ways to represent data through the inherent characteristics of food, such as color, form, texture, smell, taste, nutrition or origin. # The workshop encouraged participants to express data in concrete, sensually experienceable food in order to gain insight into the constructions and relations of media. At the end of the workshop, an open data menu was created and publicly tasted. # Some examples: " Lettuce de Lux consists of 4 different maps of Finland, made up of 4 different lettuce salads, representing the seasons. Kippis! shows the typical local alcohol consumption patterns in Finland.

11. Source information: (2e)

Source	WEB http://schlabadoo.com/2012/02/23/remember-when-mr-coffee-was-the-only-coffee-maker/
Date	2012
Title	Remember When Mr. Coffee Was the Only Coffee Maker? Mark

Expanded context: have made excellent coffee. I would not know because I never figured out how to use it. I did not get any coffee, and succeeded only in proving Boyle's Law with respect to Medium Roasts. # " Grimka -- oh, Grimka! I remember your big eyes. Your graceful, slender back and tendency to give answers in the tone of a question. But mainly I remember your percolator. One of the two tenets by which I lived my life was that, the more cups of coffee you made at once, the better the coffee tasted. The other tenet was that the the Powell family episodes of " Charles in Charge " better than the Pembroke family episodes. # " The percolator was so easy to use and made delicious coffee. But when I dumped the grinds down the garbage disposal, for two nights running the garbage disposal could not get to sleep, and had to keep getting up in the middle of the night to go to the bathroom.

12. Source information: (2f)

Source	WEB http://www.cookingforengineers.com/recipe/89/Cheesecake-Plain-New-York-Style
Date	2012
Title	Cheesecake, Plain New York Style - Cooking For Engineers

Expanded context: crust with brown sugar like someone suggested and cooked the vanilla in the cream as someone else suggested. I read the lemonjuice wrong and added instead of 2 teaspoons at least 2 tablespoons. Further I added 250gr of very wet raspberries (I used a box with frozen ones, so when it defrosted it got hugely moist). I figured that the cake would be pretty wet and skipped the added waterbath in the oven. The cake turned out lovely. It looked lovely and so it tasted. And so I ate my first self-made cheesecake ever along the route of the Amsterdam marathon while all the marathoners looked on jealously. The taste of the raspberries I can recommend to everyone who likes them as much as I do and the cake absolutely didn't taste too lemony from the extra juice. Thanks very much for this great recipe! # On November 15, 2010 at 06:14 PM, an anonymous reader said.

13. Source information: (3a)

Source	BLOG http://sewardcitynews.com/2012/10/people-who-lost-dog-want-him-back-too-late/
Date	2012
Title	People who lost dog want him back, too late

Expanded context: sad injustice. I really don't mean this in a cruel way. Guess the two just don't add up in my mind. I wonder if the new owners are really aware of what happened. # I have to agree with the two above me. Mistakes can happen and even if the info on the microchip was never updated all the facts are out there now and it's obvious who the rightful owner is. I can understand how easy it is to fall for a pet you just adopted but imagine how the true owners in Anchorage must feel. They lost their beloved family pet and from what it sounds like did quite a bit to try and locate him. # Microchip updated or not mistakes happen and things can get crossed and mixed up. I have rescued two dogs myself that were in need on the side of the road over the past two years and instantly feel in love with them. Both my current dogs got along great with them and I would have kept them both in a heartbeat.

14. Source information: (3b)

Source	BLOG http://www.badlefthook.com/2012/11/18/3660978/broner-vs-demarco-press-conference-seth-mitchell-banks-phil-lo-greco-video-hbo-boxing-news
Date	2012
Title	Broner vs DeMarco press conference: Antonio DeMarco, Seth

Expanded context: But I want to thank Johnathon Banks. You did a hell of a job, man, and you got the belt. I definitely wanted that belt, but you did what you were supposed to do tonight. I just wish you continued success, man. " # " I thought I did a good job in the first round using my jab. At times I got a little wild, but at the end of the first round, I thought that my pressure, and some of the shots I hit him with, he definitely felt. I felt that if the fight went about five or six rounds, he would start to wilt from the pressure. But with that being said, after the first round, I got a little reckless because I saw how effective I was in the first round, and I might have rushed a little bit, and just got wild with my shots.

15. Source information: (3c)

Source	BLOG http://www.ledger-enquirer.com/2012/11/17/2280695/from-the-locker-room-dreading.html
Date	2012
Title	From the locker room: 'Dreading it for another week' - Ledger-Enquirer

Expanded context: different than these guys in terms of the plays they run. But the concepts are the same, the blocks are the same. So I think that part will help us a little bit. " # Performance of his team: # " I thought our guys played really well today. I thought we held them under their average. The second half we really controlled the game, got some three-and-outs and some stops. And really they got some meaningless yards at the end when the game was pretty much intact.... We played pretty good, I felt. We just got ta be ready to play again next week. " # The chop-block penalty: # " It's when you want to call it. They called it right there, but if you watch tape it's a matter of - it's such a gray area, and a fine line. I think it's tough for the officials, because the human eye, just on angles and things like that.

16. Source information: (3d)

Source	BLOG http://www.ourlittlechatterboxes.com/2010/11/tsa-sexual-assault.html
Date	2012
Title	Our Little Chatterboxes: TSA - Sexual Assault

Expanded context: They are using sexual assault as a means to herd us into the scanners, and line the pockets of the x-ray/back scatter machine manufacturers and their political allies. People are going to be so pissed that they will choose the scanners over the feel up. # anonymous 9:17- the really sad part is, i would definitely pick the potentially carcinogenic and ridiculously invasive scanner over getting molested. Any day. Not happy that that's the only choice (when there is a choice) but still, you're definitely right. better to be seen than felt. # Re the " Anonymous " poster who claimed you weren't assaulted, he/she sounds like he/she works for the TSA. In any case, I certainly would like to see your perp on the sex offender list. What boggles my mind is how these TSA agents can routinely assault people every day, including women and children. Good honest normal people cant do that without crying or vomiting.

17. Source information (3e)

Source	BLOG http://thelede.blogs.nytimes.com/2012/10/27/coastal-surge-forecast-from-hurricane-sandy-prompts-evacuations/
Date	2012
Title	Coastal Surge Forecast From Hurricane Sandy Prompts Evacuations

Expanded context: # . MayorBillFinch urges residents in low-lying areas to plan to seek shelter on higher ground due to possible flooding <http://t.co/f2WTF6Dy> # State and city officials in New York are closely monitoring the forecasts because of concern that landfall farther north could cause a storm surge in New York City big enough to flood the Battery and even inundate the subways. # There is no way to be sure, since it depends upon so many factors, including the timing of the storm's arrival, how long it lingers and where its most forceful winds and waves would be felt. # The National Hurricane Center has created interactive graphics that zoom in on particular sections of the coast so that a user can see the probabilities of flooding at any height. # Various models, updated frequently, show where the flooding is expected to be worst

18. Source information: (3f)

Source	BLOG http://globalpublicsquare.blogs.cnn.com/2012/10/10/and-the-best-university-in-the-world-is/
Date	2012

Title	And the best university in the world is... – Global Public Square
-------	---

Expanded context: took State Board Exams with all of the other Universities in Texa, I had the highest composit score. Besides a good education in Nursing I discovered many years later when visiting museums in Paris, Madrid and Rome that I could still identify many of the works of art from a wonderful history of art course that was required. A good education is available at many Universities. # Regarding a broad education, Francis Bacon wrote, " Seek ye first the good things of the mind. the rest will either be supplied or its loss will not be felt." Wise words, but unfortunately that approach does not always help in paying the rent. # In America, those who had previous negative experiences, as first-hand or lessons from their families, that did not make it in Higher Educations, are the biggest obstacles for bright and educated new immigrants.

19. Source information: (4a)

Source	BLOG http://wattsupwiththat.com/2010/02/25/judith-i-love-ya-but-youre-way-wrong/
Date	2012
Title	Judith, I love ya, but you're way wrong ... Watts Up With That?

Expanded context: # A very good reply to Judith's post -- which, I have to say, had me fuming with her pretended' neutral' attempt at refereeing the current debacle. Did she fool herself in this or did she hope to fool all of the rest of us, I wonder? # As a retired scientist (physical chemistry/computer modelling -- not of climate) my main comment is, how did it come about that this post has been necessary. the debasement of climate' science' standards has been truly appalling to observe. # It's too little too late. So called climate scientists who advocate the AGW myth are still well regarded by most of the media and politicians. These so called climate scientists need more than just a critique of how naughty they have been by more traditional scientists. They need to be charged with fraud and hopefully put behind bars. Otherwise, they will continue the hoax for as long as they like ignoring comments by anyone else as they are very thick skinned. #

20. Source information: (4b)

Source	BLOG http://wattsupwiththat.com/2011/09/11/bill-illis-clouds-account-for-most-of-the-variability-in-net-radiation-at-the-top-of-the-atmosphere/
Date	2012
Title	Bill Illis: Clouds account for most of the variability in net radiation at

Expanded context: Bart at CA going great guns but with an amazing statement like this, I think Bart's find really needs putting into common language. Tallbloke's got a post on it but Paul Vaughan is complaining he can not understand and I think he has a point insofar as he speaks for a lot of us. # This is exciting. We are watching citizen science, or blog science, or whatever you may call it, unfold before us. Even if it is a false lead, as science often taunts us, it is a remarkable process to observe. Lets hope that the ivory towers' hold on science can be forever broken. # Remember " Clovis First " and how hard that was to break? Remember H. Pylori causing ulcers and how hard that was to become mainstream. Or how many years Lancet took to finally accept that immunizations were not causing autism. It should be hard to overturn a paradigm.

21. Source information: (4c)

Source	BLOG http://dronewarsuk.wordpress.com/2012/10/01/are-drones-compatible-with-the-idea-of-just-war/
Date	2012
Title	Are drones compatible with the idea of just war? « Drone Wars UK

Expanded context: # The distinction is not always clear, and O'Donovan acknowledges that drawing the line is difficult. But he adds: " Yet while we puzzle over the twilight cases, we can not overlook the difference between day and night: a soldier in his tank is a combatant, his wife and children in an air-raid shelter are non-combatants. " The distinction, in short, is not impossible to make and to observe. The Obama Administration's expansion of who is considered a combatant -- all military-aged males killed in UAV strikes -- goes too far into the grey twilight zone where non-combatant immunity no longer has teeth. # Then there is the question of authority: by what right does the US carry out targeted killings on foreign soil? Even if the host country grants permission, does it possess the right to allow other nations to kill its citizens, or, as in the case of Anwar al-Awlaki and Samir Khan.

22. Source information: (4d)

Source	BLOG http://www.curatormagazine.com/ebony-walden/around-the-world-in-seventy-five-poems/
Date	2012
Title	Around the World in Seventy-Five Poems

Expanded context: Around the World in Seventy-Five Poems # Between 2010 and 2011, I embarked on a journey to see the world's mess and magnificence, to collect stories, create poetry with the voiceless, to write an adventurous chapter of my own life and find God in it all. I christened it the Poetic Justice World Tour. # Poetry is a way for me to use my voice to give my passion, beauty and pain to the world. I use poetry to tell my story and the stories I observe. I use it to convey the beauty and brokenness I see in world using the power of words to paint a picture, inform an audience, and inspire others to act or empathize. I can be a speaker of life, truth, hope, healing, peace and justice. # I began writing poetry about three years ago. I started hosting The WordSmith Poetry Jam in 2009 and because I organized and emceed the event, everyone just assumed I, too, was a poet.

23. Source information: (4e)

Source	BLOG http://www.sott.net/article/248735-2012-Collective-Awakening-or-End-of-the-World
Date	2012
Title	2012 - Collective Awakening or End of the World? - Signs of the Times

Expanded context: rules you to such an extent that you can not control it any more. You are the prey of lying. You lie, everywhere. Your relations with others - lies. The upbringing you give, the conventions - lies. Your teaching - lies. Your theories, your art - lies. Your social life, your family life - lies. And what you think of yourself - lies also. # But you never stop yourself in what you are doing or in what you are saying because you believe in yourself. You must stop inwardly and observe. Observe without preconceptions, accepting for a time this idea of lying. And if you observe in this way, paying with yourself, without self-pity, giving up all your supposed riches for a moment of reality, perhaps you will suddenly see something you have never before seen in yourself until this day. You will see that you are different from what you think you are. You will see that you are two.

24. Source information: (4f)

Source	BLOG http://digitaldigging.net/blog/prometheus-an-archaeological-perspective/
Date	2012
Title	Prometheus: An Archaeological Perspective (sort of). Digital Digging

Expanded context: " they found the system, and it has a sun ". Comment: Of course it has a sun! It's a SOLAR-system. Annoying, but let's move on. # 3. They are going there because they think the star-map is an invitation. One of the other " scientists " says something like, " How do you know that? " She replies, " Because it's what I choose to believe. " Comment: This is just plain stupid. Scientists don't choose to believe things. They hypothesize, test and observe. All the other " scientists " are OK with this. They have just put their lives in danger (because let's face it folks, space is just plain dangerous), because some chick " believes " in something. This is were they really started losing me... and it's only 15min in! # 4. One of the " scientists " takes his helmet off. Then the rest of them do it to because he's obviously the cool one.

25. Source information: (4g)

Source	BLOG http://jdrabinski.com/10_15_11_the-actual-worst-spot-to-locate-dirt-needs-to-be-in-the-cafe.html
Date	2012
Title	jdrabinski-com » The actual worst spot to locate dirt needs to be in

Expanded context: feel 100% comfortable walking on your small business barefoot (including the bath rooms and tub areas) you have a big cleanliness difficulty. Your customers are prepared to eliminate an individual for a number of issues such as a tiny facility, or old equipment, nevertheless they won't ever eliminate you with an unclean or perhaps unclean work out atmosphere. I'm harping on this as this is the low clinging berry. No matter your sources or perhaps your spending budget, you can improve the sanitation of the gym nowadays and i also promise that your members will observe. If you are paying attention, you'll notice as soon as an individual enter a company whether or not the proprietor beliefs cleanliness. Maintaining your small business clear is straightforward as soon as you institutionalize hygiene like a policy. Start with developing a cleaning record to your business.

26. Source information: (4h)

Source	BLOG http://theroanokestar.com/?p=17281
Date	2012
Title	Wind, Heat Keep Numbers Down But It was Still Motor Madness

Expanded context: " we like going places for a good cause. " He's been to the museum and called it " really nice. " # Motor Madness board member Robert Bennett said it was the " biggest turnout of all time on cruise night, " which then yielded to " the biggest storm. There was a lot of scrambling out there but it turned out pretty well damage-wise. " A fair number of car exhibitors return every year while new ones also sign up; Bennett said the event continues to grow. " Some great cars, " he observed. # VMT Communications Officer Peg McGuire said the funds raised by Motor City Madness " helps us create exciting exhibits in that auto gallery. " The money has helped change out the exhibit every six months (Advance Auto is the principal sponsor for the gallery); it has also meant better heating and cooling and new windows coming soon. " Without Star City Motor Madness we wouldn't have that space.

27. Source information: (4i)

Source	BLOG http://thinksimplenow.com/relationships/how-to-keep-a-relationship/
Date	2012
Title	How to Keep a Relationship

Expanded context: assume the worst. We find a meaning that serves us but is not the true meaning of their words in that moment. We tell ourselves that this meaning is the absolute meaning, and is definite and permanent. Truth is, when we are irrational, we say all sorts of things we don't mean out of heightened emotions. # Differences Between the Sexes -- Men are just as emotional and sensitive as women. The difference is in the way that men and women express themselves, and this is often misunderstood. Here are some differences we've observed. Keep in mind the following three things while reading: 1.) I realize that this is a generalization, so bear with me. 2) When I speak about " women ", I am referring to feminine qualities and tendencies instead of the gender. Similarly, when I mention " men ", I am referring to masculine qualities. It is possible for a woman to have more traditionally masculine qualities and vice-versa. 3) I am using male- female couple in the examples.

28. Source information: (4j)

Source	BLOG http://rosswolfe.wordpress.com/2011/03/25/man-and-nature-part-iv-a-radical-critique-of-the-%E2%80%9Cgreen%E2%80%9D-environmental-movement/
Date	2012
Title	Man and Nature, Part IV: A Marxist Critique of the "Green

Expanded context: afford to build more sustainably at the moment should be a source of regret, and not something that we should accept lightly. # I think that designers need to think about sustainability more, and what it means to us both as individuals and practices, and maybe then we can deliver it. We must not fool ourselves by thinking that by building the cheapest solution to solve a financial # Surveying the various constituencies that make up the present-day Green movement. a number of distinct tendencies can be observed. These each have their own peculiarities and distinguishing features, and are sometimes even at odds with one another. But there do exist overarching themes that hold this jumbled mass of ideological fragments together. One trend held in common by most of them, for example, is a shared opposition to " big business " and " corporate greed. " It is on this basis that many of them fancy themselves to hold a generally anti-capitalist worldview.

29. Source information: (4k)

Source	BLOG http://wattsupwiththat.com/2010/09/18/suns-magnetics-remain-in-a-funk-sunspots-may-be-on-their-way-out/
Date	2012
Title	Sun's magnetics remain in a funk: sunspots may be on their way out

Expanded context: exist as active magnetic processes. # Another way of looking at this is that the sunspots are getting hotter, so they won't be darker than their surroundings. But 1500 Gauss is still a lot of magnetism. About 30 times more powerful than the average field around the sun (the solar magnetic field is about 50 Gauss, about the same as a refrigerator magnet). # So the sunspots will still be active, we just won't see them in visible light. The effects of their magnetic activity might diminish somewhat, but will still be observed. # " I'm a non-scientist, so someone out there correct me if I'm wrong. The reason for a lack of sunspots is because of all the CO2 we've emitted in the last 50 years, right? " # Neither and I but I can explain it completely. # You see the sunspots are there, if you check any CAGW site they clearly indicate that the minimum ended months ago and everything is fine, so not to worry.

30. Source information: (4l)

Source	BLOG http://voltaireproject.org/think-youre-which-has-a-difficult-time-because-of-the-range/
Date	2012
Title	voltaire » Think you're which has a difficult time because of the range

Expanded context: self recover! Idea #1. Have a favourable attitude. Couples get your ex-lover back At all times, despite their own problem. Bear in mind. Repeat the idea. Let that fixed an individual totally free. Suggestion #2. You shouldn't be aggressive. The worst type of reaction you can have is definitely possibly be sneaky towards your sweet heart and have these people answer badly. Don't be sneaky. Be structured in saving ones relationship. Hint #3. Be able to connect your thoughts in addition to points in ways that is simple being observed. This neckties with staying aggressive. You learn how your partner can be and you also know the way people reply, it's important to "sneak in" the relationship repairing information in the good method so it is obtained a lot better. Rule #4. Generate the existing good stories! Go out and about collectively if you're able to plus remember most of your current reminiscences this introduced an individual collectively.

31. Source information: (5a)

Source	BLOG http://www.damninteresting.com/the-phantom-time-hypothesis/
Date	2012
Title	The Phantom Time Hypothesis • Damn Interesting

Expanded context: short, that does not change what the clock really says. External-- that is, non-psychologic--time is, on Earth, truly the same for everyone. # Silverhill said: time is essentially absolute. Even if we are distracted by something, such that the passage of time seems to have been short, that does not change what the clock really says. External -- that is, non-psychologic -- time is, on Earth, truly the same for everyone. " # Seems = appears, ie perceived. Clock = man made... Time is relative to what we perceive. One country' clocks' time differently to another, one religion' clocks' time differently to another. # So! Time obviously is not the same for everyone. # Distraction is as distraction does! # Quantum physics is the criteria. Clocked time is not quantum physics, it's a mere distraction from reality. #

32. Source information: (5b)

Source	BLOG http://diaspora.chinasmack.com/2012/canada/what-if-chinese-people-were-the-dominant-race-on-earth.html
Date	2012
Title	What if Chinese People Were the Dominant Race on Earth? - Danny

Expanded context: Have you even seen real Italy? There are black guys and South Asians EVERYWHERE. Why can't a mafia film star a black or asian person? Why can't a white guy know martial arts? Even if there weren't many black or asian people in Italy, what's wrong with film, as an art medium, depicting it anyway? What about halfsies? Half-asian-half-white, do you count them as white or asian? Half-black-half-asian? What about a quarter? What if it turned out Justin Chatwin had asian heritage? We react to what we perceive. Race is cultural and not genetic. # Don't get me wrong, I get what you're trying to say, but race is such a tricky thing, it's easy to demonstrate how the lines get blurred. Racism is when you define something by the culturally-bound stereotypes of race. It's not necessarily good or bad, right or wrong.

33. Source information: (5c)

Source	BLOG http://www.gizmag.com/gravity-probe-drought-groundwater-reserves/24271/
Date	2012
Title	Gravity probe shows groundwater reserves slipping away

Expanded context: wanted to become a scientist. He did, earning a Ph.D. in physics and embarking on an R &D; career which has recently broken the 40th anniversary. What he didn't expect was that along the way he would become a patent agent, a rocket scientist, a gourmet cook, a biotech entrepreneur, an opera tenor and a science writer. All articles by Brian Dodson # So these satellites are are whizzing by 500 km above earth and they can tell a 10 micron difference in altitude? That is astounding technology - hard for the mind to perceive. # KAJO 25th September, 2012 06:40 am PDT # It looks like Nuclear Powered Desalination Plants should be on someone's drawing board soon. # Flipider Dot Comm 25th September, 2012 08:29 am PDT # surely a desalination process can be used to provide irrigation water from sea water and pump it inland? Or pump it down from Canada! # livinthedream 25th September, 2012 09:37 am PDT #

34. Source information: (5d)

Source	BLOG http://freethoughtblogs.com/blaghag/2012/08/how-i-unwittingly-infiltrated-the-boys-club-why-its-time-for-a-new-wave-of-atheism/
Date	2012
Title	How I Unwittingly Infiltrated the Boy's Club - Freethought Blogs

Expanded context: just like there were different waves of feminism. # ... all I have to say is have fun as you circle jerk into oblivion. Keep unintentionally or intentionally excluding women, minorities, and progressives while cluelessly wondering why you're losing members, money, and clout. The rest of us will be moving on. # FUCK YES! I'M READY! Love the A+ idea, but whatever the new movement is called, whatever its symbol, I'm all in. # I think a lot of men don't even think about how they are perceived. I did a little, because I am large, and because I had sisters. And maybe my parents taught me better than some. But even I never thought about elevators as locking metal boxes where you are putting your trust in the other people to not harm

you. # I really think more men should read that book. It is more marketed to women which is unfortunate.

35. Source information: (5e)

Source	BLOG http://abagond.wordpress.com/2009/10/15/go-back-to-africa/
Date	2012
Title	"Go back to Africa" « Abagond

Expanded context: have all of the money and all of the political power. Everything economic hinges on the power of white. # White people are not willingly drowning themselves in the stories of black people uplifting black people. You complain that you do not hear stories of black people lifting up their communities, but have you bothered to seek out such stories? If not, why not? I live in the same country that you live in, and I understand how unavoidable the commercialized blackness of big booty hos and gun-carrying thugs is. It is how black people are perceived. Part of it is, without question, the doing of black people. I know some loose black girls that have babies and men that don't take care of business, I do. But what happens is that the white-run media (an institution with more control than any of us realizes) takes this image of black people, finds others like it, and that is the black person they expect to see. #

36. Source information: (5f)

Source	BLOG http://vigilantcitizen.com/vigilantreport/when-insiders-expose-the-ugly-side-of-the-entertainment-industry/
Date	2012
Title	When Insiders Expose the Ugly Side of the Entertainment Industry

Expanded context: she is wearing a Hello Kitty (kitten programming) trigger necklace. When she films the " Circus " video, there is a triggering jewel butterfly on the back of her ringleader outfit. When the " real Britney " (front alter) is shown during interviews, she is a broken and deeply, profoundly depressed woman. She says she " thinks " she's making this video because " she doesn't like the way she's being perceived ", then, looking lost, adds " I'm not sure how I want to be perceived ". She says many things like that her life is " too controlled ". Honestly, you just have to see it all to believe it. And her father is super creepy in it, saying things like " Damn, baby! Those are hooker heels! ". It's disgusting, you just want to SAVE that woman from the hell she's in. I believe she is a victim of ritual and systematic abuse.

37. Source information: (5g)

Source	BLOG http://freetheanimal.com/2012/04/how-do-you-know-what-you-know.html
Date	2012

Title	How Do You Know What You Know? Free The Animal
-------	--

Expanded context: a link to this post.) # Speaking of Shane, my parent's next door neighbor is the late Jack Schaefer's daughter. My Dad was really pissed off when he found this out right after Schaefer died, as Shane is his all-time favorite film and he wanted an autograph. # I'm human just like anyone else. I mulled over it all day, including during my 30-minute swim in the cold water. Then, I just began writing. I always try to give it straight with little to no regard how it will be perceived. # At any rate, I didn't really take pleasure in it in the first place. Within minutes of posting, there's Melissa in my email. We shot a half dozen emails back & forth and in the end, I hated having done this. # But I did, it's there, it's done, and Melissa took it like the champ she is. # Needless to say, I'm not a " don't hit back " sort.

38. Source information: (5h)

Source	BLOG http://blog.joylaforme.com/2012/05/things-im-afraid-to-tell-you/
Date	2012
Title	Things I'm afraid to tell you : joy laforme

Expanded context: The only reason I've felt comfortable enough to share these things is because of all of you being so accepting and wonderful to me as a designer. I hope if anything at all, I've inspired you to not be afraid of those things that you're afraid to share. Comments # This is such an awesome campaign!! Thanks for delving into this. Amen! I put up a post yesterday regarding my faith (and even though it's a part of my whole content), I was nervous to see how it would be perceived. Thanks for sharing the love here. I just used your cute confetti design as a background for my kiddo craft features. XOXO, MJ # Joy! I totally feel the same way about living in cities. As much as I love them and what they have to offer.. I do long for the country... the way that I grew up. I'm happy to have the city experience though. But now, after seven years... I'm ready for a garden and space too!

39. Source information: (6a)

Source	BLOG http://tmagazine.blogs.nytimes.com/2012/11/16/island-records/
Date	2012
Title	Island Records - NYTimes.com

Expanded context: days when speaking the Okinawan language, Uchinaguchi, was cause for ridicule and punishment in school. # Then he got out his sanshin and played " Okinawa ni Kaese, " accompanied by an upright-bass player, and Kubota on guitar. This was different from the old island songs, a Western-style march, and he sang it in a golden voice. When he was done, he smiled. " Thank you very much, " he said in English. # Up to the day I was supposed to meet Kina, I had no idea if he would show. We had an appointment one afternoon at a recording studio in Ginowan, a town north of Naha, and I arrived a half hour late to find Kina wasn't there. We waited a while, then drove to get some coffee. As in most parts of Okinawa, we were near an American base, and passed American-themed stores selling baseball caps and leather jackets. On the way back, we drove by a pachinko parlor and a concrete-bunkered stretch of shoreline.

40. Source information: (6b)

Source	BLOG http://www.sportsgrid.com/mlb/a-rod-was-taken-out-of-game-1-of-the-alcs-so-he-hit-on-some-girls-in-the-stands/
Date	2012
Title	A-Rod Hits On Girls During ALCS SportsGrid

Expanded context: the stupid story along anyway. Good job. # Dylan Murphy # Indeed, I am a horrible person. # Anonymous # Sure that's what TBS and FOX want to show true baseball fans. Video of a fading, jacked up, soon to be has been baseball player flirting with two women in the stands as his team is getting their collective asses kicked. # Actually this story is more fun to read than the Yankees currently are to watch. # Anonymous # No... actually in today's media that is exactly what they would love to show. They had their cameras trained on AROD most of the night, just trying to get some kind of reaction to what was going on in the game. Get real. If this story was true... TBS would have been all over it. # Anonymous #

41. Source information: (6c)

Source	BLOG http://wattsupwiththat.com/2009/09/10/svensmark-global-warming-stopped-and-a-cooling-is-beginning-enjoy-global-warming-while-it-lasts/
Date	2012
Title	Svensmark - Watts Up With That?

Expanded context: for one example (+0.430 C/decade for 1974-1983). There is also a trend of +0.360 C/decade fore 1992 to 2001. (I'm surprised that you find my statement controversial since if the average slope is +0.17 C/decade over the whole 30+ year period and we know there are decade-long periods of significant lower slope, there are also going to be decade-long periods with higher slope. Saying otherwise is like saying that everyone is above average.) # Furthermore, I am not sure how you are expecting to see what I talked about on the graph that you showed. What you plotted is the temperature with a running average over 120 months or 10 years. What I am talking about is taking the yearly global temperature (so, roughly speaking, the temperature averaged over 12 months and looking at the least-squares trendlines over various 10-year periods.

42. Source information: (6d)

Source	BLOG http://legalinsurrection.com/2012/11/the-civil-rights-issue-of-our-time/
Date	2012
Title	The civil rights issue of our time - Le-gal In-sur-rec-tion

Expanded context: evasive or dishonest doesn't seem like the way to go. Santorum seemed more rational, willing to say he would not impose his personal belief. Moderates still thought he was crazy for saying his hypothetically raped daughter should look at the baby as a gift from God, but at least he wouldn't impose his religion on them. # Akin was a guy who lacked the courage of his conviction so instead attempted to elide the heart of the matter by spouting off some pseudo scientific nonsense, for which he was rightly ridiculed. He was gutless and it showed. The left smelled blood in the water and came in for the kill. # A more correct answer for Akin was 'it's an innocent human life, and I don't feel comfortable killing it. That would be making two victims out of one crime, while also unjustly rendering the ultimate punishment on the child for being guilty of nothing more than having the wrong father.' #

43. Source information: (6e)

Source	BLOG http://fifthdown.blogs.nytimes.com/2009/02/10/brett-favre-and-things-to-think-about/
Date	2012
Title	Brett Favre and Things to Think About - NYTimes.com

Expanded context: at least one more year which includes a full preseason instead of this years 1 week to learn everything. # Danny, where was the learning curve against Arizona? Fav-Ra seemed to know his offense just fine in that game. What about NE or Ten; did nt see many signs of being out of sync with the receivers then. Fact is, when push came to shove, Fav-Ra made a ton of mistakes and was not able to lead this team. There was a clear lack of leadership from the coaches to the veteran players, and it showed. We have three talented young QBs on our team. As the Falcons and Ravens showed, with good coaching even a rookie can lead you to the playoffs in tough divisions like the AFC North or NFC South. # Walt -- I did not say "let's compare every Jets QB to Joe Namath. " I said we haven't had a franchise QB since Joe Namath. If you're going to quote me get it right. I am a little young (33) to remember Richard.

44. Source information: (7a)

Source	BLOG http://www.animevice.com/news/its-not-so-fun-to-be-an-american-otaku-in-japan-otaku-coming-home/6493/
Date	2012
Title	It's Not So Fun to be an American Otaku in Japan? - - OTAKU

Expanded context: inadvertently tramples over fond, analog memories. # VinceA: # Haha! Wow. I should have Googled that first, huh? But thank you for making my point - I just stumbled on this while we were over there and had a chuckle, figuring SURELY this hasn't been localized yet. The fact that it has just goes to show that you really can find most anything domestically these days, even CAT SHIT ONE. # Whenever I go shopping for games or manga or whatever I instinctively look for names, designs or character art that I recognise. It's rare that I leave with something I've never heard of before or went in intending to buy. You might have passed up the on the 1/1 scale

Moe Moe Z-Cune from Akibaranger or some rare Sora no Woto figure since you weren't specifically looking for them

45. Source information: (7b)

Source	BLOG http://wattsupwiththat.com/2009/01/22/antarctic-warming-part-2-a-letter-from-a-meteorologist-on-the-ground-in-antarctica/
Date	2012
Title	Antarctic Warming? Part 2 – A letter from a meteorologist on the Expanded context: motives to others, as he does in his final paragraph. Regardless, I think it entirely reasonable to question the extent of his direct experience, which he presents as a basis for his judgment. It is evident that the matter of his direct experience is considered to be significant, as the title of the original post here shows. It is not ad hominem to question what that experience actually is, nor is it ad hominem to point out conflicting statements regarding it. Stating otherwise suggests an understanding of 'ad hominem' that I certainly don't recognise. # It occurs to me that some posters here think it is important to question the factual basis of the work of Hansen or Mann, for example (and that some are evidently prepared to suggest that these scientists are fraudsters), but not to have questioned basic factual matters in a statement from someone whose position accords with theirs. Well, so be it. #

46. Source information: (7c)

Source	WEB http://foth-npcs.tumblr.com/
Date	2012
Title	Foth NPCs

Expanded context: with this guy and had drinks with him. The fact that what almost happened to Delaney could have happened to her was unthinkable, but Jude couldn't help but dwell on that a little and even though he had been busy trying to comfort Lydia while he texted her, everything she was worrying about had affected him too. How could he have just let this happen? He should have known that this Miles was the same guy from the beach party, the one Kayla had told him about as a trusted confidant and the one he had failed to recognise. Shaking his head at himself, he joined the throngs of people in the living room and glancing over the heads of them, he spotted Miles, drinking and flirting with another unsuspecting girl. # He pushed his way through the people, intent on making this stranger pay for everything he had done to two of his favourite girls and what he might have done to countless other people.

47. Source information: (7d)

Source	BLOG http://celia-turner.blogspot.com/2012/10/hip-replacement-result-of-sitting-in-w.html
Date	2012

Title	celia- turner: Hip Replacement- A Result of Sitting in 'W' Position.
-------	--

Expanded context: my aching leg on a whole pile of pillows at the end of the bed like a sad version of the Princess and the Pea. I've always walked really fast, often being moaned at by friends and family puffing and panting behind me and I've taken my dog on long walks every day for years and years. Every creak or ache I have dismissed, sometimes my hip would seem to 'get stuck' so I'd just wriggle my leg around until it shifted. A quick google search reveals that this is a problem that is being recognised. Worryingly I saw a bit of information that links sitting in the ' w' position with autism. I'm not sure if some of us sit in the ' w' position because of a problem with the hip in the first place or simply sitting in that position causes the problem with the hip. I think it would have to be the former as how would a child choose' to sit, as a toddler surely you'd just' sit?' I'm on the waiting.

48. Source information: (7e)

Source	WEB http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/16526831
Date	2012
Title	The role of core stability in athletic function.

Expanded context: was an English philosopher, statesman and essayist but is best known for leading the scientific revolution with his new' observation and experimentation' theory which is the way science has been conducted ever since. He was knighted in 1603, created Baron Verulam in 1618, and created Viscount St Alban 72007 The role of core stability in athletic function. Source Abstract # The importance of function of the central core of the body for stabilisation and force generation in all sports activities is being increasingly recognised.' Core stability' is seen as being pivotal for efficient biomechanical function to maximise force generation and minimise joint loads in all types of activities ranging from running to throwing. However, there is less clarity about what exactly constitutes' the core', either anatomically or physiologically, and physical evaluation of core function is also variable.' Core stability' is defined as the ability to control the position and motion of the trunk over the pelvis to allow optimum production, transfer and control of force.

49. Source information: (7f)

Source	WEB http://www.howtocreteavideogame.org/
Date	2012
Title	How to Create a Video Game

Expanded context: you are qualified enough. The capabilities in animation are getting beyond the grasp of any limitations, so with the right kind of training you can make your own mark. People who love games also like creativity and they have a great deal of imagination. And if you have lots of imagination and creativity, then it is a deadly mix. You can dream of creating new games and design something stamped with your personality. If you have the skill, sky is the limit and you will surely get a job at a company where your talents will be recognised. Dreamers are great visualizers, so you can dream. Main qualities included in video game designer job description # You have to go through several years of experience if you want to become a video game designer. You can not just study graphics designing and land up with a job designing video games. You need to have special skills and should be able to work with a computer for long hours without any complaint. Since the consumer demand for games are increasing by the day, you have to

50. Source information: (8a)

Source	BLOG http://wattsupwiththat.com/2010/02/25/judith-i-love-ya-but-youre-way-wrong/
Date	2012
Title	Judith, I love ya, but you're way wrong ... Watts Up With That?

Expanded context: # Now the Working Group II Report on Impacts is an entirely different story. The scientists involved in this report are biologists, public health experts, etc. Climate change impact assessment is in its infancy. It is difficult enough to attribute a surface temperature to change to CO2, volcanoes, ocean oscillations or whatever. It is way more difficult to attribute kidney stones, species extinction, etc to CO2. This report (until very recently) received much less scrutiny than the physical basis report (astonishing that the Himalayan glacier issue etc are just now being spotted). This report focuses on identifying " dangerous " human interference with the climate system. The most important and nuanced part of this report is chapter 19 which explains what they are up to. I would say there is an element of " alarmism " in this report plus disturbing inaccuracies (many of which have been identified but presumably not all).

51. Source information: (8b)

Source	BLOG http://dangervoidbehinddoor.wordpress.com/2011/04/03/a-riot-of-their-own/
Date	2012
Title	a riot of their own « danger: void behind door

Expanded context: fleeting, unaccustomed feeling of what could be possible was just a beginning. # Down on the Embankment last Saturday, and not having found anyone willing to hold the other end of my Self-employed Magazine Editors Against The Cuts banner, I adopted the colours of Lancaster and Morecambe NUT, on the grounds that the nearby Westminster Teachers Association flag was lacking an apostrophe. The mood was joyful, optimistic, partyish. But then, of course, amid the drummers and the bagpipers and the pushchairs and the Robin Hood hats, the first red and black flags were spotted. From what I hear, most of them lost their way -- probably put their balaclavas on back to front -- and ended up in Oxford Street where, cross at having missed Ed Miliband's rabble-rousing peroration, they got Capitalism muddled with litter bins and threw some paint at policemen. Well, it had been a long day -- they were probably just tired and over-excited. # Now, obviously anarchist theory emphasises the self - that's sort of the point: individual liberty and personal responsibility.

52. Source information: (8c)

Source	BLOG http://www.coronadocrest.com/student-life/2012/11/17/an-adventure-4-girls-3-destinations-2-celebrities-1-car/
Date	2012
Title	An Adventure: 4 Girls, 3 Destinations, 2 Celebrities, & 1 Car : The Expanded context: were busily working on our stories when someone mentioned the news. Of course, when four teenage girls hear about such a thing, it's a little hard to pay attention to anything else. # We chattered about the news, wishing we could go and find them, when our teacher, Mr. Hill, says: " Sounds like a good story idea to me. " # All four of us jumped up and screamed, literally running out to the car. First stop, the Overton Hotel, where we had heard that Ryan Gosling had been spotted. # On the way over, we all couldn't think of much else besides hoping we'd catch a glimpse of these lovely celebrities. # Once we arrived, we realized something. We couldn't just waltz into the Overton and expect to be greeted with ease. Four teenage girls walking into a hotel where the recently announced Sexiest Man Alive was staying? # We were in newspaper, we had ad papers, and we had a plan.

53. Source information: (9a)

Source	BLOG http://somethingisgoingtohappen.net/2012/10/03/writing-about-what-you-want-to-know-by-janice-law/
Date	2012
Title	"Writing About What You Want to Know" (by Janice Law

Expanded context: feels like to face an empty canvas and to dream of images, and I discovered enough to understand a little corner of the horrors of the Blitz and of the terrible accidents occasioned by the Blackout. As the book developed, I grew acquainted with the smell of brick and stone dust and burning districts. I became familiar with bombed-out streets and death from the air via a variety of sinister weapons and with black-out regulations and fire-watching. I experienced these the writerly way, as a compound of reality and imagination, of what I knew and what I could discover. # I hung it all on the ever-flexible mystery framework, had Francis unluckily stumble over both a corpse and a seriously bent copper, and then, since I never plot out a novel and would be too bored to finish it if I did, waited to see #

54. Source information: (9b)

Source	BLOG http://thisblogisaploy.blogspot.com/2011/06/how-i-went-from-writing-2000-words-day.html
Date	2012
Title	Pretentious Title: How I Went From Writing 2,000 Words a Day to

Expanded context: turn on my desktop to start surfing. # You just made me realize why I liked my college Fiction Writing course. It brought my knowledge of the story up, as well as the excitement. I used to say work smarter, not harder. I have changed it recently. Now I say, Work smarter, Then work harder. That maxim has helped with my laziness. Thanks for the great tips, I will try them out, as soon as i fix my keyboard. I don't have the quotes or the apostrophe, I just discovered. # I first thought this was going to be some lame site trying to sell me a book on writing (which are, for the most part, useless. Shouldn't that time be spent writing?). Glad it wasn't. I especially like the point about knowing what you are going to write. That's why my motto has always been to not necessarily know where the story will ultimately end up, but at least know what happens after your current section.

55. Source information: (9c)

Source	BLOG http://chasers90.com/wonderful-voucher-suggest-that-can-be-right-for-you
Date	2012
Title	Wonderful Voucher Suggest That Can Be Right For You!

Expanded context: When you have extra income after buying, place it besides to help you stock up on something great another 7 days. # Observe your self very carefully when you are getting discount coupons and prevent clipping some thing just as it is a great deal. Just because you can get a huge money quantity off, it can not quickly suggest you need to use the promotion. In case the manufacturer is not one that you will generally acquire, you can actually wind up wasting funds by using the excellent promotion you might have discovered. # Coupon for just two distinct functions. Mostly, you wish to voucher for stuff you need and will use, like groceries. Apart from that, only coupon when you are able afford to commit the amount of money on one thing you need. In no way buy something in large quantities just since it is on particular should you not eat it, unless of course you are going to give away it to good cause.

56. Source information: (9d)

Source	BLOG http://www.opednews.com/articles/The-BBC-Protecting-Pedoph-by-Joe-Quinn-121115-777.html
Date	2012
Title	OpEdNews - Article: The BBC: Protecting Pedophiles and War

Expanded context: Clwyd and Gwynedd, North Wales, including the Bryn Estyn children's home at Wrexham, between 1974 an 1990 was conducted and published in 2000. The report made recommendations to improve the functioning of the homes, but all of the names of individuals accused of abuse were kept secret. # Savile has also been linked to the appalling abuse of children at the Haut de la Garenne children's home in Jersey in the UK Channel Islands. Children there were raped and tortured in the most horrible ways.' Dungeons' on the premises containing bones have been discovered. Children were regularly treated to ' boat trips' where rich and influential people would rape them. Savile tried to sue the Sun newspaper when they linked him to abuse there but he was later forced to admit he had been a visitor when a picture of him at the home surrounded by children was published. #

57. Source information: (9e)

Source	BLOG http://truthseekerforum.com/health-for-you/hidden-agent-orange-chemical-they-want-to-sneak-into-your-food-via-dr-mercola/
Date	2012
Title	Hidden "Agent Orange" Chemical They Want to Sneak into Your

Expanded context: vapor that can drift onto neighboring land... " accidentally killing nearby crops and exposing greater expanses to its toxic effects. # Let us also not forget that all the " weeds " these herbicides were designed to kill represent biodiversity, without which we would be left with only a handful of staple crops -- upon which our entire subsistence now precariously depends. Only because we do not find obvious value in a plant, does not mean it is not there. # Emerson once said: " What is a weed? A plant whose virtues have not yet been discovered. " # Indeed, when we target as " the enemy " any living plant that does not bear the favored qualities of a GM plant, and use the slash-and-burn, herbicidal approach to eradicate any competing plant life form, we are basically declaring war on the biosphere itself, and thereby setting up the future conditions for the collapse of our entire food production system, as well as poisoning ourselves in the process. Without biodiversity, monoculturing puts " too many eggs in one basket, " virtually guaranteeing

58. Source information: (10a)

Source	BLOG http://vigilantcitizen.com/musicbusiness/lady-gagas-born-this-way-the-illuminati-manifesto/
Date	2012
Title	Lady Gaga's ^Born This Way^ - The Illuminati Manifesto The Vigilant

Expanded context: sex, sexual orientation, religion, etc you can be part of a brotherhood without being discriminated against. Its really the basest form of religion which practices love thy brother as thy love thyself. The ones wanting to control your mind (Religion/Corporations) would rather you fear this idealism and not go to it and piss your life away hating something you don't know. Never learning, never growing and breeding ignorance. # All in all, Illuminati conspiracy theorists are like people who look for anything they consider racist. If they look hard enough, they find . If you want to be truly intelligent and break the chains of mental slavery; turn off your TVs and pick up a book. Learn, grow, and love everyone as you love yourself and that is it.

59. Source information: (10b)

Source	BLOG http://www.johnchow.com/taking-a-look-at-the-empower-network/
Date	2012

Title	Taking A Look At The Empower Network
-------	--------------------------------------

Expanded context: how to install WordPress. Terms like FTP and CPanel are like a foreign language and setting up a database might as well be setting up the space shuttle for a launch. Because of the technology. Taking A Look At The Empower Network # I've been hearing a lot about Empower Network lately (some of their affiliates have advertised on the blog) and a lot of prominent bloggers and internet marketers have been joining up, so I decided to check it out. Here's what I found. # What is Empower Network? # The Empower Network is a viral blogging platform that launched just over a year ago and has been growing exponentially month over month. You've more than likely seen an ad or heard someone mention it, but maybe didn't know exactly what it was. # Each member of the network is provided with a hosted blog that is used to drive traffic and generate leads for both the network and whatever else you are promoting.

60. Source information: (10c)

Source	BLOG http://www.kdrv.com/search-warrants-served-in-grubbs-case/
Date	2012
Title	Search Warrants Served In Grubbs Case KDRV

Expanded context: have found anything. He won't say if the homeowners are connected to the case, but he said the wide area on this property meant they needed more resources for the search. # This property has a pond and irrigation ditch nearby. Dive teams from Klamath and Siskiyou counties were seen searching those areas. They have said they believe the murder weapon is a large blade and crews with metal detectors have been on scene. Police reiterate that they do not know if anything will come of this search, and they aren't saying if anything has been found. Marla says: # I called this in to Brian Morton in the KDRV newsroom this morning. As I pulled out onto Rapp Rd. on my way to work the search team was just arriving and they wouldn't give us any info about what was happening or why they were there. Glad you guys are on it. Hoping for a positive outcome in this case. Looking forward to the news tonight. Kelly says: #

61. Source information: (11a)

Source	BLOG http://backbeatseattle.com/2012/11/17/show-review-photos-future-of-the-left-neumos/
Date	2012
Title	Show Review & Photos: Future Of The Left @ Neumos Back Beat

Expanded context: Left performed -- I could hear songs just in warm-up notes, e.g. the synth on " Manchasm " -- and yet they threw in some surprises by playing songs in new ways, plus adding mclusky songs " To Hell With Good Intentions " and " Lightsabre Cocksucking Blues. " Now that the band is a quartet they can do even more with guitars courtesy of Jimmy Watkins, who proved a bit amusingly mad by climbing the balcony. Drummer Jack Egglestone was tremendous, and Andrew Falkous, well, Andrew Falkous was one of the best beings you will ever witness . So, naturally, see this band if you can. # Since I love all Future Of The Left songs, I can't grumble about the setlist. Though I remembered the tracks played, I need to say thank you to the individual who put the setlist online -- I can not always remember the order of songs played. All songs were sexy, all songs ruled, and the show ended with a cover of Andy Kaufman's " I Trusted You. " I could not believe it

62. Source information: (11b)

Source	WEB http://www.newyorker.com/arts/critics/television/2012/06/25/120625_crte_television_nussbaum
Date	2012
Title	Aaron Sorkin's "The Newsroom" Review : The New Yorker

Expanded context: Americans were just too stupid to get it. # As Dan Rather might put it, that dog won't hunt. Sorkin's shows are the type that people who never watch TV are always claiming are better than anything else on TV. The shows' air of defiant intellectual superiority is rarely backed up by what's inside -- all those Wagnerian rants, fingers poked in chests, palms slammed on desks, and so on. In fact, " The Newsroom " treats the audience as though we were extremely stupid. Characters describe events we've just witnessed . When a cast member gets a shtick (like an obsession with Bigfoot), he delivers it over and over. In episode four, there's a flashback to episode three. In a recent interview, Sorkin spoke patronizingly of cop shows, but his Socratic flirtations are frequently just as formulaic, right down to the magical " Ask twice! " technique.

63. Source information: (11c)

Source	WEB http://www.positivelypositive.com/2012/04/26/10-things-your-dog-would-tell-you/
Date	2012
Title	10 Things Your Dog Would Tell You « Positively Positive

Expanded context: brown eyes like he was saying... hey I am ready... I am tired of suffering. I would never have left him alone because he was always there for me. After he closed his eyes for the last time... I got his favorite blanket and wrapped him in it. We took him home to his pups so they could say goodbye and to his best friend that taught him his manners and trained him to go outside for his stuff... all the puppies gathered around and started howling... it was the most heart wrenching thing I had ever witnessed . Later that night... we were looking for Blackie... she was down the hill at Romeo's grave... just so distraught and howling.... the next morning... ole Blackie passed too and I believe from a broken heart. I had more love and friendship from these to wonderful animals than I believe I have ever gotten from a human being... except my parents.... Always love you animals and treat them with the respect they deserve.... they will always love you... even when you scold them.

64. Source information: (11d)

Source	BLOG http://gizmodo.com/5961263/facebook-gifts-just-became-the-easiest-way-to-look-good-in-front-of-everyone
Date	2012
Title	Facebook Gifts Just Became the Easiest Way to Look Good in Front

Expanded context:

damage control!). But will anything make you look more magnanimous on the Internet than buying a gift -- even a cheap-o one -- for zero reason? No, nothing will. Just Because. Pick that. # If you're particularly shameless, you can even donate your gift to charity on someone's behalf. # Your gratification will be immediate. It'll pop up on the recipient's wall, for all their friends to see. It'll show up in the feeds even if nobody's looking at their wall. Your gesture will be witnessed. People will Like it. Nobody will know that the entire thing took you maybe two or three minutes -- even less time if you have your credit card number memorized. # Nobody will ask if you put a lot of thought into the gift (you didn't) or whether you even customized the card (you needn't). All they'll see is a gift from you, to someone, for no obvious reason. Your esteem will rise, and you won't have to break

65. Source information: (1)

Source	BLOG http://seekingalpha.com/article/984541-dish-network-management-discusses-q3-2012-results-earnings-call-transcript
Date	2012
Title	Dish Network Management Discusses Q3 2012 Results - Earnings

Expanded context: don't think either administration -- if a transaction made sense, I don't think either administration would block it if it made sense, if it was good for the American public. If it wasn't, both administrations would block it. So I don't think that really makes much difference. I think it's more a factor of, if you look at any transaction -- at least my experience with the government has been, any transaction that you look at, ultimately they weigh the effect on competition and innovation in the market. And they look at that -- every deal is different and they look at that in its totality. And if the deal makes sense, they approve it. And if it doesn't, they put conditions on it to make it make sense. Or if it really doesn't make sense, then they just don't approve it. And I'd leave that up to the experts, but I think it -- my personal opinion, it's probably a doable deal no matter who the administration is, under certain

66. Source information: (2)

	Series	Another Life (IMDB) (Years: 2019- : 11 episodes) Country: USA Genre: Adventure,Drama,Mystery
	Series info	Astronaut Niko Breckenridge and her young crew face unimaginable danger as they go on a high-risk mission to explore the genesis of an alien artifact.

Expanded context: Seattle departing now. Thank you. Marcus... walk us through your theory. What were you thinkin' and... Stuff was basic, man. Well, humor him. He's old. Right. The sound waves had distortions, right? All the songs, the same distortion over and over again. So I just looked at one, you know? Get the big picture. Uh, here. I'll show you. The distortions sort of looked like this. Just wait. Jesus Christ. Jesus. I-I mean, I must have looked at that sound wave over a million times. The chunks of missing sound came in two different sizes -- big and little. I thought binary, right? So, I coded it out -- That's when you came up with the RGB code for white? You know, light work, bro. It's kind of my thing. Can I ask you something? Absolutely. You can ask me anything. Would you... ever abandon me? No. God. Why-Why would you even say

67. Source information: (3)

Source	BLOG http://www.ocala.com/article/20121004/articles/121009842
Date	2012
Title	Business alliance would like to see hotel in downtown Ocala Ocala

Expanded context: recover the cost of, " Hershberger said. " It's an expensive proposition. " # He said parking could be increased by revamping some streets. # " Most of the merchants we spoke to down there are not feeling parking is a big issue right now. There are other things that can be done to enhance the whole area, " Hershberger said. # Councilman John McLeod and Mayor Kent Guinn both were proponents of a downtown garage. # " If we found a solution to parking using existing parking lots -- a permanent solution -- I could look at that being less expensive, " McLeod said. # Although the temporary parking north of City Hall has eased parking problems, McLeod said if a hotel were built, there likely would be a need for a garage. # Guinn echoed McLeod's thoughts. # " I guess we need to take it one step at a time, " Guinn said. " I think we need a garage, but we will wait and see how these other plans develop. If there's a hotel, obviously

68. Source information: (4)

Source	BLOG http://theonlinephotographer.typepad.com/the_online_photographer/2010/06/the-importance-or-not-of-the-printing.html
Date	2012
Title	The Online Photographer: The Importance (or Not) of the Print(ing)

Expanded context: If I had a suspicion you had lost something in translation, I'd ask you to send me what I call a " straight " RAW conversion. That uses the default settings in ACR, with the following changes: Set Recovery to 25. Set Fill and Black to 0. Set output space to ProPhoto RGB. Set the amount of sharpening to 0%. Use a linear Curve running from 0,0 to 255, 255. That extracts just about everything useful that can be gotten out of the camera file with minimum alterations, and I could look at that to see what's been gained or lost in your JPEG. # # Dear David in Sydney, # Wow, impossibly tough question, unless I can induce amnesia. Possibly I'd fiddle a bit because, as I mentioned previously, my vision is precise but not entirely constant from day to day. But, other than that, I think I'd likely leave it alone.

69. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://inaspaciousplace.wordpress.com/2012/10/26/sometimes-it-is-not-ok/
Date	2012
Title	Sometimes It Is Not Ok « In A Spacious Place

Expanded context: and let Him handle it, and know that He knows what's best. It's definitely not easy at all, but it at least gives you -- as you say -- something to hold onto. # Very often we feel that allowing ourselves to be scared is giving in to the disease or whatever it is that ails us. We think it is a sign of weakness. On the contrary, being scared is the bravest thing we can do. It allows us to take much needed time out to experience true compassion for ourselves. If we recognise that being scared is igniting love inside us, softening our hearts towards ourselves and affording us greater strength to meet the challenge ahead, then we understand the true meaning of divine love. # I absolutely agree -- weakness is a show of strength since you're not afraid to admit your failings or fears. It also allows you to fully appreciate the wide range of feelings we are given and the Politician Among 32 Convicted in Riot Case.

70. Source information:

Source	WEB http://gowers.wordpress.com/2012/01/21/elsevier-my-part-in-its-downfall/
Date	2012
Title	Elsevier — my part in its downfall « Gowers's Weblog

Expanded context: then it seems likely that those who are boycotting Elsevier will attempt to publish in N instead of E. The standard for E should thus eventually go up, and so too its reputation. Submitting to N early thus seems like a sound investment. # My overall feeling is that the waters are sufficiently muddied that we, including young researchers, do not need to analyse all the game-theoretic consequences of joining the boycott and just do what we think is right. # I agree with the responses above. As I said in my subsequent post, I fully recognise that boycotting Elsevier is a lot easier for some people than it is for others. What I hope will happen is that if Elsevier becomes a tainted brand, so to speak, these difficulties will go away. I can't speak for other mathematicians, but if I were examining a CV and at the beginning of the publication list it said " I refuse to publish in Elsevier journals " then I would make due allowances.

71. Source information:

Source	WEB http://www.omnibusol.com/anegypt.html
Date	2012
Title	EGYPT, PREHISTORY, AND THE ^OTHER ANCIENTS^ - PART I of

Expanded context: Nile and the fertile land along its banks. The yearly flooding of the Nile enriched the soil and brought good harvests and wealth to the land. " Learn about a day in the life of two ancient Egyptian families. Experience the world of an ancient Egyptian nobleman. # . THINKING, WRITING, SPEAKING # " The ancient Egyptians knew full well that writing was the mainstay of civilised life. A seated scribe holding a papyrus roll was one of the most popular subjects in their early art. He was revered and honoured, for the early Egyptians recognised that writing was the foundation of ordered life and government and, to some extent, transcended death itself. " # In the beginning hieroglyphic signs were used to keep records of the king's possessions. " Scribes could easily make these records by drawing a picture of a cow or a boat followed by a number. But as the language became more complex more pictures were needed. Eventually the language consisted of more than 750 individual signs. " First rate introductory site. " All these texts somehow serve

72. Source information:

Source	ACAD: South African Journal of Human Resource Management
Date	2019 (2019/01/01)
Title	How coaching aligns the psychological contract between the young millennial professional and the organisation.
Author	Chantelle Solomon

Expanded context: strategies such as helicopter parenting (Wasserman, 2017), where parents are overprotective of their children, have led to young adults with higher levels of anxiety, without mechanisms to cope with stress or failure (Gosse, 2017). Constant access to the Internet and social media has influenced millennial-relationships with their peers and other generations (Gosse, 2017). They are portrayed as shallow, unable to form meaningful relationships and loyal to others only for as long as it suits them (Twenge & Campbell, 2012). # Within the workplace, millennials are recognised for using their technological shrewdness to enhance their productivity, efficiency and collaboration with others (Burrows, 2013). They desire to shape their workplace (Burrows, 2013) and can be influential brand ambassadors if they buy into an organisation's purpose (Wasserman, 2017). Millennials are also apparently 'tough to manage' (Gosse, 2017) often popularly described as entitled, lazy and inappropriately demanding (Alsop, 2008). This techno-generation prefers to communicate electronically rather than face to face.

73. Source information

Source	BLOG http://www.coronadocrest.com/student-life/2012/11/17/an-adventure-4-girls-3-destinations-2-celebrities-1-car/
--------	---

Date	2012
Title	An Adventure: 4 Girls, 3 Destinations, 2 Celebrities, & 1 Car : The

Expanded context:

were busily working on our stories when someone mentioned the news. Of course, when four teenage girls hear about such a thing, it's a little hard to pay attention to anything else. # We chattered about the news, wishing we could go and find them, when our teacher, Mr. Hill, says: " Sounds like a good story idea to me. " # All four of us jumped up and screamed, literally running out to the car. First stop, the Overton Hotel, where we had heard that Ryan Gosling had been spotted. # On the way over, we all couldn't think of much else besides hoping we'd catch a glimpse of these lovely celebrities. # Once we arrived, we realized something. We couldn't just waltz into the Overton and expect to be greeted with ease. Four teenage girls walking into a hotel where the recently announced Sexiest Man Alive was staying? # We were in newspaper, we had ad papers, and we had a plan. # All of us go inside and talk to

74. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://dangervoidbehinddoor.wordpress.com/2011/04/03/a-riot-of-their-own/
Date	2012
Title	a riot of their own « danger: void behind door

Expanded context:

fleeing, unaccustomed feeling of what could be possible was just a beginning. # Down on the Embankment last Saturday, and not having found anyone willing to hold the other end of my Self-employed Magazine Editors Against The Cuts banner, I adopted the colours of Lancaster and Morecambe NUT, on the grounds that the nearby Westminster Teachers Association flag was lacking an apostrophe. The mood was joyful, optimistic, partyish. But then, of course, amid the drummers and the bagpipers and the pushchairs and the Robin Hood hats, the first red and black flags were spotted. From what I hear, most of them lost their way -- probably put their balaclavas on back to front -- and ended up in Oxford Street where, cross at having missed Ed Miliband's rabble-rousing peroration, they got Capitalism muddled with litter bins and threw some paint at policemen. Well, it had been a long day -- they were probably just tired and over-excited. # Now, obviously anarchist theory emphasises the self - that's sort of the point: individual liberty and personal responsibility.

75. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://wattsupwiththat.com/2010/02/25/judith-i-love-ya-but-youre-way-wrong/
Date	2012
Title	Judith, I love ya, but you're way wrong ... Watts Up With That?

Expanded context:

Now the Working Group II Report on Impacts is an entirely different story. The scientists involved in this report are biologists, public health experts, etc. Climate change impact assessment is in its infancy. It is difficult enough to attribute a surface temperature to change to CO2, volcanoes, ocean oscillations or whatever. It is way more difficult to attribute kidney stones, species extinction, etc to CO2. This report (until very recently) received much less scrutiny than the physical basis report (astonishing that the Himalayan glacier issue etc are just now being spotted). This report focuses on identifying " dangerous " human interference with the climate system. The most important and nuanced part of this report is chapter 19 <http://www.borderlandbeat.com/2012/10/z40-reports-he-is-arrested-of-killed.html> which explains what they are up to. I would say there is an element of " alarmism " in this report plus disturbing inaccuracies (many of which have been identified but presumably not all). I assume there must be defensible parts of the report, but I personally don't know how to identify them, and

76. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.borderlandbeat.com/2012/10/z40-reports-he-is-arrested-of-killed.html
Date	2012
Title	CONFIRMED:Marina Releases Statement on Lazca - Borderland Beat

Expanded context:

up damn why couldnt it be Trevino now he s gng to be strong arming everyone letting them know he s boss now even lazcanos contacts Trevino better be gone before new president takes over we'll keeping hoping lets wait And see what happens in the next couple days sinaloa has been laying low big time well see what they do next. # Be careful without a death photo we don't know shit, otherwise if he is dead HaHaHa he got caught trying to have a life. What a dumbass, your a big bad narco leader and he gets spotted. Was probably a woman, guys aren't too brave over there right now. I just hope people realize to stay out of Coahuila. He wwouldve been alive if he doesn't use the one civil state to hide in. # What do you mean his body has been released over to family members?! Something about all this stinks just like when Bin Laden was supposedly found, killed, and then dumped into the ocean. # " Uh, we're here to claim the body of

77. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.soccerbyives.net/2012/05/uefa-champions-league-final-staff-picks-predictions.html
Date	2012
Title	Who do you think will win the Champions League final? (And SBI

Expanded context:

wait to see Drogba go up against Boateng, who is a big guy who likes to shove around little forwards. I think Drogba has potential to humiliate him. Another factor, and something I haven't seen any pundits commenting on, are handballs. In recent games (Madrid and Dortmund) some Bayern players have been intentionally using their hands, the most blatant one from Boateng on a Ronaldo free kick in the first half of the first Madrid game. Bayern finally got called for a handball last week against Dortmund, but at least one was not spotted. See what happens today. # Bayern are just too strong all the way around. Bayern will strike first early off a Ribery goal and then Chelsea will tie it up just before half off of a Drogba header off a corner. Then in the second half Bayern will catch Chelsea sleeping with goals from Robben and then Gomez. Bayern will lift the Champions League trophy for the 5th time, and 3268951 To Make a Difference in the

78. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.businessinsider.com/the-essex-lion-may-have-been-a-pet-cat-called-teddy-bear-2012-8
Date	2012
Title	The Essex 'Lion' May Have Been A Pet Cat Called Teddy Bear

Expanded context:

But a thorough search by police, zoologists and wildlife experts found no sign of such an animal, with no lions being reported missing in the area of St Osyth, near Clacton, Essex. # The excitement now appears to have been caused by a large domestic cat, with amused locals already compiling a list of possible candidates for the beast which caused the scare. # Leading the list of suspects is Teddy Bear, a three-year-old domestic Maine Coon who lives just a few hundred yards from where the "lion" was spotted. # The cat, which has light, sandy-coloured fur not dissimilar to the big cat, often wanders in the field and has been mistaken for a fox in the past, according to his owner. # Ginny Murphy told the Daily Mail she had seen the furor over the "lion hunt" on television in Liverpool, where she was staying, adding: "It clicked right away."

79. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=68340
Date	2012
Title	Christopher Eccleston Confirms Filming In Iceland For THOR: THE

Expanded context:

sequel's production crew shooting "effects scenes" at the famous Leadenhall Market earlier today. And as previously reported, shooting will continue tomorrow around Butlers Wharf. Then later this month, filming will move to the Old Naval College at Greenwich. And regarding where exactly in Iceland will filming occur, that's currently unknown. # Monday UPDATE: Filming is underway right now near Tower Bridge and at Butlers Wharf, as promised. The crew has been spotted setting up for scenes that'll be considered tracking shots. Both a camera-equipped UAV and motorbike have been spotted. # Exploring Thor's relationship with the Asgardian all-father Odin, as well earthbound companion Jane Foster, "Thor: The Dark World" follows the God of Thunder to The Nine Realms beyond Asgard and earth. And as his evil half-brother, Loki, returns for Asgardian justice, a new threat rises.

80. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://jobsearch.about.com/b/2012/10/22/would-you-lie-on-your-resume-2.htm
Date	2012
Title	Would You Lie On Your Resume?

Expanded context: absconded with rewards and bonuses due to another. Paleeze, in the 21st century, what isn't a lie? # April 12, 2010 at 3:07 pm # (55) Robert-J says: # Never tell a lie, if you are caught out you are doomed and it can be quite surprising who knows enough to be able to catch you out. # On the other hand there is nothing wrong in arranging the truth to your best advantage and leaving out facts which are detrimental. But if you leave an obvious gap then surely it will be spotted. # April 12, 2010 at 3:41 pm # (56) VICKI says: # NEVER! You will start a chain reaction and will personally lose your credibility.. even if you get away with it. BE TRUE TO YOURSELF! Ask your " Higher Power " to help # April 12, 2010 at 4:13 pm # (57) BBB says: # You should arrange your resume to highlight the requirements that the employer is looking for and demonstrate that you have these requirements. You should never

81. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.annarbor.com/passions-pursuits/down-to-the-sea-on-pontoons---part-iii/
Date	2012
Title	Down to the sea on pontoons - part III

Expanded context: headed for our home port, with Harold looking as dignified as possible riding a pontoon boat being towed by a jet ski. # Now, if there is one thing you can count on after many years of marriage, it is the unconditional support of your loving spouse in times of hardship and tribulation. She will stand at your side, strong and unflinching, even though the rest of the world heaps scorn on you. # Okay, anyone who has actually been married knows better than that load of crap. # Harold's wife Donna had apparently spotted us coming and notified my wife. They stood on the sea wall, doubled over in laughter over and taking pictures for my wife to post in her carefully-maintained Scrapbook of Stupid Stuff Mike Has Done. # Over the 19 years since that day, that old boat has witnessed some serious fun and the consumption of a fair number of beers. Harold went on to the Next Big Adventure a few years ago, my friend Tom has taken his place as the other half of the Scow's essential crew.

82. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.theatlanticwire.com/entertainment/2012/11/cameron-diaz-likes-robert-pattinson/58736/
Date	2012
Title	Cameron Diaz Likes Robert Pattinson - Entertainment - The Atlantic

Expanded context: It's weird. You're weird, probably made up concertgoer adding background to a story about Cameron Diaz being friendly to Robert Pattinson. You're very weird. Us Weekly # Meanwhile in Las Vegas, newly single Leonardo DiCaprio may not be single for long. Now that he's done with Victoria's Secret model (really, Leo? That's about the most unoriginal thing) Erin Heatherton, he's said to be cozying up to his 22-year-old (oh, Leo) Wolf of Wall Street costar Margot Robbie. He and the Aussie newcomer were spotted talking closely at the Wynn Las Vegas recently, as both were there attending a billionaire's birthday party. Haha, what? A billionaire's birthday party? Isn't basically every a day a birthday party for a billionaire? " Today I want to celebrate all my blessings with my friends somewhere fabulous, like I will tomorrow and every day for the rest of my life barring a few days when some sad things happen and a couple more when I'm feeling lazy.

83. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://wattsupwiththat.com/2010/09/18/suns-magnetics-remain-in-a-funk-sunspots-may-be-on-their-way-out/
Date	2012
Title	Sun's magnetics remain in a funk: sunspots may be on their way out

Expanded context: done that, we might not now have all the discussion about the 0.6, because that factor would have been quietly forgotten, just like nobody today worries and most don't even know about the factors 2.0 and 1.25 that Wolf applied to the early data. But perhaps there was by 1893 a 'user base' that might object to such correction. Wolfer's successor Brunner carried on Wolfer's count faithfully using the x64, so no discontinuity was introduced. Waldmeier who took over in 1945 was inexperienced with the x64 and wrongly as far as I can discover from reading all the thousands of pages of the Astronomische Mitteilungen from Zurich believed that Wolfer since 1882 had used a weighting scheme counting the smallest specks once, pores twice, ordinary spots thrice, and larger spots 5 times. The weighting schema that was applied to x64 counts which was always used for the sunspot number, even as Waldmeier used larger telescopes in his studies of filaments and faculae. The weighting schema introduces an artificial upward jump of some 20% of the sunspot number.

84. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.the-lifeartist.com/2012/08/05/in-which-i-am-almost-all-the-way-burned-out/
Date	2012
Title	In which I am almost all the way burned out.

Expanded context: are lovely. You really have had " too much " going on, haven't you. Bless your heart! And lest you think that somehow you're alone in this place, well, I see many similar comments on other blogs, of those who are hurting from having seen, been, and done so much! (And what would the world do without such exuberance and grace, exhibited in due season?) # I pray for you and your family to find God's peace and rest and harmony and lovingkindness. And that you may discover him, walking with you, in a new and elegant and wonderful way -- not as something you " put on " yourself by trying harder to meet him, but by just relaxing and letting him handle the " being with you truly ", at all times, places, and ways, even on occasions where you know it not. " Surely the presence of the Lord is in this place, and I knew it not " (said Jacob when he dreamed of the stairway straight to heaven

85. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.stevehargadon.com/2008/03/web-20-is-future-of-education.html
Date	2012
Title	Steve Hargadon: Web 2.0 Is the Future of Education

Expanded context: evaluating students on their writing, it can be a little scary to put up something you have written for the whole world to see--especially if you don't have hours and hours to refine it. So wait and watch a little. # * Participate. After some purposeful lurking, consider becoming personally engaged. Be brave. Post a comment, or reply to a thought. It can be short! While Web 2.0 may seem short on grammar, spelling, and punctuation, your skills in those areas will help you to communicate well, and you will discover that contributing and creating take on significant meaning when you are participating in a worthwhile discussion. # * Teach Content Production. When you have understood the previous suggestion, you'll realize the importance of starting to teach content production to your students (and your friends, family, and anyone who will listen!). This is important on many levels, not the least of which is teaching how to make decisions about sharing what you produce (copyright issues, and be sure to learn about Creative Commons

86. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://blogs.the-american-interest.com/fukuyama/2012/01/23/do-institutions-really-matter/
Date	2012
Title	Do Institutions Really Matter? Francis Fukuyama

Expanded context:

be impossible, so there is need for intellectual authority to guide our thinking: that would be the consensus of social sciences. Keep in mind that politicians usually have some sort of higher degree diploma, but by no means does that make them scientists or experts in any field, for that matter. Their trade is politics: power, as opposed to reason (in the enlightened sense). To those who believe, without any doubt, that FIDESZ is your glorious chivalry of uppermost morality: please educate yourselves in politology, political psychology and you might discover politicians using the same standardized tools for gaining popularity all over the world, that is guided neither by reason, nor by morality. Getting back to the discussion here, I think most of the misunderstandings are not about the facts or the underlying axioms. The issue of debate is the interpretation of the facts: the argument.

87. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://whatever.scalzi.com/2012/08/22/for-no-particularly-good-reason-my-ranking-of-pixar-films-from-best-to-least-quality/
Date	2012
Title	For No Particularly Good Reason, My Ranking of Pixar Films, From

Expanded context: # I have not seen Up, Cars 2, Brave, Toy Story 3. I suspect Brave and TS3 would go above Finding Nemo. Up, I don't have a good feel for. It could crack the top 4 or it could be below WALL-E. Time to rent the video.. # I also love the Miyazaki films (Totoro!) but have to disagree with you on the subtitles. While I normally prefer to watch a foreign film in it's original language, with Miyazaki films specifically I've discovered that reading subtitles really takes away from my ability to see all the beautiful detail in the animation and background artwork. Try one and see if I'm lying- the recent Disney re-dubs are all pretty good. # Best Pixar bit for me is the first twenty five mins of Wall-E, after that it rapidly slides down the chart. #

88. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.divinecaroline.com/38/126699-art-mingling-do-guests
Date	2012
Title	The Art of Mingling : How to Do It And How to Get Your Guests to Do

Expanded context: Growing up during The Depression, there was no catered food, piatas, clowns (unless you count my Uncle Frankie) or fancy paper plates. My mother and her four sisters learned to entertain themselves and others with their cooking, their personalities and their natural inclination to be comfortably surrounded by others. When I grew up and had my own parties with friends and family, I always had a good time and assumed everyone else did too. It was an assumption made from familiarity, not arrogance. It came as a surprise when I discovered that socializing with others was not something that came naturally to everyone. Some people were uncomfortable, others felt socially inept or awkward, while others worried about how they are perceived. I knew some of my friends were shy. I thought that meant they were more polite than the rest of us. They sat quietly, somehow managing to pretend to listen to the ten conversations going on simultaneously. They did not interrupt so I assumed they had nothing to say.

89. Source information:

Source	SPOK: CNN_Showbiz
Date	2011 (111115)
Title	Penn State assistant coach Jerry Sandusky`s case is being compared to Michael Jackson`s case as the Expanded context: still composing and holding her uniform, completely true to its word, as she carried herself through a night with Justin Timberlake. It's very respectable, very honoring. DIAZ: Well Jeannie, tomorrow is the day " People " magazine names its sexiest man alive. And I'm thinking that Justin Timberlake has to be at the top of the list. Don't you agree? MAI: He might be, next to you though, right Carlos? DIAZ: Maybe. MAI: I mean I think so. No, but I think any guy today you can find doing something that is completely selfless and completely disrobing the whole celebrity title-ship, you know, to himself, I love that. I love seeing this -- DIAZ: Blah, blah, blah, blah, blah. He's got great abs, a great body, he can sing, he can dance. MAI: And he has a good heart. If you read his blog, I really do love the words he shared. DIAZ: All right. If Justin is not named " People's " sexiest man

90. Source information:

Source	ACAD: ABA Journal
Date	2010
Publication information	Mar2010, Vol. 96, p42-49, 7p, 4 Color Photographs
Title	A PATENT ON PROBLEMS.
Author	Carter, Terry terrypcarter@gmail.com

Expanded context: not long after. " The nose of this airplane is pointed down, " he bluntly told a gathering of corporate counsel. As goes the patent office, so goes the economy, says Kappos, who came to the job from IBM, where he was vice president and assistant general counsel. The PTO either launches or buries innovation, the watchword in a nation whose manufacturing muscle has withered. And it is widely believed the PTO has become a burial ground for potential. Stakeholders have been howling about the agency's huge and growing backlog. They find applying for a patent to be somewhat like buying a lottery ticket. From universities counting on income from gains in research to independent inventors, from the electronic and high-tech industries to big pharma and biotech, they complain about losing what might have been. " That is very, very unfortunate because literally every one of those is a potential breakthrough innovation not being put into the marketplace, not creating jobs, not creating economic advantage for our country, " Kappos says. Of the agency's backlog of 1.2 million

91. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://blogs.cgdev.org/globaldevelopment/2012/11/the-envelope-please-seeking-a-new-way-to-rank-think-tanks.php
Date	2012
Title	Envelope, Please: Seeking a New Way to Rank Think Tanks David

Expanded context: not whether we can achieve perfection. It is whether the status quo can be improved upon. Seemingly, it can be: it only took us a few weeks to choose metrics and gather data, and thus produce additional, meaningful information. # A first stab # For this initial foray, we focused on the 20 American think tanks that appear on any of the " special achievement " lists of the 2011 GGTTT. The GGTTT also groups tanks by global region, specialty, and affiliation (government, university, political party, independent). We found that choosing our group the way we did produced a list of institutions that are reasonably appropriate to compare, and for which data were easily available. For U.S. institutions, for example, budget data can be obtained from publicly available IRS filings. (In the spreadsheet, we also run the numbers for a motley crew of 23 think tanks around the world that the GGTTT puts under the heading of International Development.) #

92. Source information:.

Source	BLOG http://www.skrenta.com/2008/01/why_search.html
Date	2012
Title	Why Search? (Skrentablog)

Expanded context: Didn't you say a few months ago that going head to head combat with Google is a sore loser? Or did you change your mind and want now to take on Google head to head? # Hey! I found your robot crawling my site and came here. I was writing about this the other week - how Google is seen as the end-all be-all of searching the internet, but that there's just so much more that can be done. Best of luck w/the project! You've got your work cut out for you. # I found your robot crawling my site and had to stop by for a look as I wasn't sure what it was. Best of luck with your project and I hope that your search can take a chunk out of the domination that's currently taking place in the search market. # Good Luck Rich! You have done wonders in the past but this is a pretty big bite you're trying to take.

93. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.ohio.edu/compass/stories/12-13/9/Mickey-Hart-QA.cfm
Date	2012
Title	OHIO: Compass A Q&A with the former director of the LGBT Center

Expanded context: two-time Ohio University graduate, Hart said it was not an easy decision to leave. He said the decision was a result of his growing desire to live and work in a major metropolitan city. # Compass recently sat down with Hart to gather his final thoughts on the move, his proudest accomplishments, and the current state of the LGBT Center: # Why did you decide to pursue this position in Columbus? # Hart: Although I love Athens, it had grown a little small for me. Many of my best friends live in Columbus and I found myself spending a lot of time there in my spare time. Also, I'm ready for some new and different challenges. I look forward to coming back to Athens to hang out and not always be working. I also previously worked in residential life here and at Antioch College and I enjoyed and missed it. # Will you have LGBT responsibilities in your new position? # Hart: There's no direct LGBT related activities. The college has a small Student Affairs department, so several of the

94. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.amren.com/news/2012/11/novus-europa-an-idea-whose-time-has-come/
Date	2012
Title	Nova Europa: An Idea Whose Time Has Come American

Expanded context: This is a real problem, of which a possible answer is suggested below. # 6. The Territory # Given the above -- that there are no " new " areas to be opened up (even those sparsely inhabited are now parts of existing states), there appears to be only two options: # 6.1 A number of territories, located in different nations, can be selected as target immigration areas. This would allow for the ultimate creation of several proto-states, of which some might be more successful than others. # For example, we could look at selecting a town in rural America, and embark on a deliberate campaign of colonization by " our " people. Eventually, a series of towns could possibly link up. This could also be done in other nations: Canada, Australia, and of course the western European nations as well. # This would solve the twin problems of (a) identifying areas which impinge upon existing states, and (b) the issue of cross-national immigration for many people,

95. Source information:

Source	BLOG http://www.lauraleighparker.com/2012/09/fight-sex-slavery-giveawa/
Date	2012
Title	Win Art. Fight Sex Slavery. {At the Same Time}

Expanded context: to choose from!. If you've already liked our Facebook page, just like or tweet this post, asking your friends to like it, too. # Remember that every time you share awareness of any social justice issue or organization, you are connecting your sphere of influence to causes that you believe in, and it's important to recognize the true value of that. # Also, if you'd like to hear my husband and I talk about The Exodus Road and our journey into learning about human trafficking during our time overseas, you can listen to us sharing at church several weeks ago. We both speak, but it's some of the stories Matt tells from the brothels that made me cry. You can hear the podcast HERE. # To enter the giveaway, simply connect with The Exodus Road via Facebook or share this post on facebook no need to leave a comment, we'll just select straight from facebook fans.

96. Source information:.

Source	BLOG http://www.restaurantgal.com/2007/06/the-best-part-of-a-sad-time/
Date	2012
Title	Restaurant Gal » The Best Part of a Sad Time

Expanded context: # I feel awful for not visiting your blog sooner. I had no idea what you were going through and am so sorry for your loss. On the other hand, your grandma sounds like an inspiration to all, and I am glad you were able to gain so much from such a sad occasion. # Very sorry for the loss of your beloved grandmother from another voice from the Pacific Northwest. Moved here in the past year and every morning I listen to the water lapping the shore, and start my day in a calm, soothing manner# " As was the custom of late Victorian and Edwardian genre painters, Talbot Hughes had amassed an extensive collection of historical costumes and accessories as studio props dating from the 16th century through the 1870s. The collection was donated to the Victoria and Albert Museum after it had been exhibited at Harrods department store in 1913.