Analysis of Java Leadership in Province of Regional Regions Yogyakarta

Andi Samsu Alam
Government and Political Department, Social and Political Sciences Faculty
Hasanuddin University
Makassar, Indonesia
alamandi@rocketmail.com

Wahyu Sigit Yudhoyono
Government Department, Social and Political Sciences Faculty
Hasanuddin University
Makassar, Indonesia

Abstract—This study aims to describe Javanese leadership practices applied by Sri Sultan Hamengkubuwono X as Governor and Sri Paduka Pakualam IX as Vice Governor in Yogyakarta Province to describe various factors that influence the success of his leadership. This research uses qualitative method in the form of descriptive that connects meaning of data expressed in form of statement, various interpretation, and all information obtained from informants. Then this research will be described, interpreted, and summarized as an answer to the main research problem. Data collection was done using interview technique, observation, and literature study. The results obtained from this study indicate that: (1) Sri Sultan Hamengkubuwono X as governor and Sri Paduka Pakualam IX as vice governor in Yogyakarta Province have practiced Wahyu Makutha Rama’s leadership concept in local government administration. (2) The main factor influencing the success of the leadership of the government of Sri Sultan Hamengkubuwono X and Sri Padukalam IX in the leadership of his government is tend to be practiced contemporary Javanese leadership as a blend between the practice of leadership concept of Revelation Makutha Rama with the actualization of Contingency theory based on the realization of good relationship between superiors with subordinates, the establishment of a clear work orientation on all elements of the institution, and the power of influence of the authority of the leader.

Keywords—Javanese Leadership, The Success of Leadership, Local Government Administration, Leadership Concept, Good Relationship